

FITNESS COURSES

2010

Take your training toolbox to another level by learning how to become a cycle coach.

The goal of this training program is to give instructors all the tools necessary to be able to create safe and interesting indoor cycling training programs.

The workshop covers important topics such as heart rate training, energy zones and class templates. The training is available to group exercise instructors, personal trainers and cycle enthusiasts who would like to learn more about indoor cycling. Personal trainers and experienced trainers can take their training to another level by learning how to become a cycle coach. The certification covers important information such as basic training and advanced training, technique, correct cycling cadence for road cycling and the pedal stroke which can be used to train a client for road cycling. After completing the workshop you can start teaching cycle classes immediately. You may prefer to practice or you may like to teach the very next day. You will certainly have enough information, experience and class templates at the end of the day.
